The girl gave her clothes to the children because she.....

There was once a little girl who had no parents. She was alone and very poor. The only things she had were the clothes on her back and a small piece of bread.

One day she an old man said to her, "Oh, dear child, give me something to eat. I'm so hungry." And the girl, without thinking about it, gave him her piece of bread. A little later she met a small child. "Could you give me something to cover my head? I'm so terribly cold," he asked her. The girl felt bad for the child. She took off her hat and gave it to him.

After a little while she saw the second child by the woods. "Dear girl, I'm so terribly cold without a coat. Have you got a coat for me?" The girl took off her coat, gave it to the freezing child and left.

It was now dark in the woods. Another child came towards her and asked, "My feet are so cold, have you got shoes for me?" The little girl felt sorry for this child, too, and so she took off her shoes and gave them to the child.

As the girl stood there cold and alone, the stars fell down from the sky and turned into pennies. She looked down at herself and she had beautiful new shoes, a new coat and hat on. She took her hat off and collected the pennies from the sky. From then on she was rich and lived happily ever after.

Student A: What a love jumper! Is it new?

Student B: Yes, I bought it last week when I went shopping with Angie. I bought it from a new clothes shop in the city centre.

Student A: I know where it is. It's a big shop. Were you there for a long?

Student B: Yes. We spent almost two hours there!

Student A: Was the jumper expensive?

Student B: No, not really. It cost £30. There are so many clothes you can buy there.

2 I live in a small town called Clevedon. It's near Bristol in the UK. My neighborhood is great! There's a big park opposite my school! My friends and I go there after school.
